When it comes to preventing oil and fuel fires in combat vehicles, crewmen with the cleanest vehicles do the best job.

They know the importance of keeping their vehicles clean. They understand that dirt, grease, oil and debris not only provide fuel for a fire, but can also cover up serious problems.

That's why they keep a good supply of clean rags handy. As they do their before-operation PMCS, they take the time to clean up oily messes that can hide damage to hoses and fluid lines.

They're the ones who spot leaks and get them fixed before they create a fire that can wipe out a vehicle—and its crew.

How about you? Is cleanliness important to you or is your vehicle just a fire waiting for a match to light it?
